NOTHING NEW SAY OFFICIALS

It is Understood Clues and Evidence in Harris Mystery is Given Coroner Every Day.

NO INQUESTS ARE HELD HERE

Talk of Prosecutor About Calling
Grand Jury is Said to be Mere Prattle.

"Anything new in the Harris mystery?" was the usual query of newspaper reporters today when they confronted the officials in charge of the investigation which is being conducted.

"Nothing new," was the usual reply.

Yesterday officials gave out the information that the investigation would be allowed to rest for a few days pending the filing of the verdict. No regular inquests are being held now, it is understood.

It is generally reported, however, that new theories and new angles and phases of the case are being presented to Coroner A. G. Shauck all the time. On this account he is compelled to run down every line of evidence and every indication of a clue in order to be just and fair to all persons concerned in the investigation.

It is said that the names of witnesses are being handed to the coroner and his clerk every day and he examines them in order to get at every tangible piece of evidence that may throw some light on the incidents of the day of the tragedy.

It is understood that no inquests have been held in Rushville since last Friday afternoon. If they have been held, they have been very secret, and the officials have been able to avoid publicity. It is known that Coroner Shauck has gone to several points in the county to get evidence, however.

The talk started yesterday by Prosecutor Dennis O'Neil about calling a special session of the grand jury to probe the mystery is considered to be nothing more than mere prattle. It is generally known that the investigation is wholly under the direction of the coroner until a verdict is returned, which would be time for the grand jury investigation, in case charges were preferred.

AWARD BRIDGE CONTRACTS

County Commissioners Give Jobs to Three Firms.

The county commissioners let the contracts for three bridges this afternoon. The Brown bridge in Orange township was given to Bert R. Newbold, his bid being $472. The contract for the Maple bridge in Washington township was given to the Burk Construction Company of Newcastle the bid being $1190. The Glidden bridge also in Washington township was awarded to Thomas H. Gibbins for $1080. Theodore Miller petitioned for a road in Walker township. John H. Frazee and Henry Beckner were appointed viewers and given ten days in which to qualify. A petition by Norman Apple for a road in Orange township was also presented. Carey O. Patton and Perry T. Innis were appointed viewers.

COMMITTEEMEN WILL MEET.

The Republican precinct committeemen of Rush county will be called together Saturday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock by Clara Bebout, county chairman, to consider some matters of great importance to the committeemen.

HEARING SET FOR SATURDAY

Habeas Corpus Proceedings Will be Argued at That Time.

Judge Blair sent word to the local court officials this morning that he would not be able to hear the writ of habeas corpus to free William Blakemon, colored, until Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The argument on the writ of habeas corpus was to have taken place this morning but the judge had a jury out in the Shelby circuit court and could not leave. Blakemon is being held in jail on an order from Judge Blair and to secure his release the habeas corpus proceedings were filed.

KNIGHTSTOWN QUARTET IN JAIL

Not Singing But Stealing One is Captured by Marshal and Taken to Newcastle.

GRAND AND PETIT LARCENY

A quartet of Italians, employed on the Pennsylvania railroad work at Knightstown, were placed in jail Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Yost, says the Newcastle Courier. The foreigners were secured in Knightstown, where they had been arrested by Peter Wagoner on the charge of larceny and had been held for the action of the grand jury by Justice Rufus Davis.

They gave their names as John Mannanoli, Giovanni Montonelli, Sam Scimiani and Charles Spantara. Montonelli and Scimiani were charged with grand larceny and their companions with petit larceny.

The four men are charged with breaking into a Pennsylvania freight car and stealing some revolvers, shot guns and other firearms. They pleaded not guilty when arraigned before the Knightstown justice.

RETURNS AFTER A SUCCESSFUL MEET

The Rev. F. B. Stearns Also Increased Interest in Commercial Activities in Belmore, Ohio.

HUNDREDS AT MEN'S BANQUET

The Rev. F. B. Stearns has returned from Belmore, Ohio, where he and K. N. Rowe, his singing evangelist, who assisted in the St. Paul M. E. church meeting here, held a revival of five weeks duration. The Rev. Mr. Stearns, at the conclusion of his meeting there, arranged for a men's banquet to boom Belmore's commercial interests. The banquet was attended by one hundred men. The chief topic at the banquet was the three "Bs"—Bigger, Better Belmore. The Rev. Mr. Stearns made the closing toast at the banquet on "Men and Boys." The Desher Flag, a weekly newspaper of Henry county, Ohio, the county in which Belmore is located, devotes considerable space to the banquet, and in praise of the Rev. Mr. Stearns and his evangelist.

The Belmore meeting was concluded on Sunday with three big meetings. At the afternoon meeting the church was crowded, when the Rev. Mr. Stearns delivered his sermon on "Booze." There have been so many requests for copies of the sermon that the local evangelist contemplates having it copywrited and several copies printed.

TOOK ACTION ON PUMP QUESTION

Well in Julian Street May Soon be Connected With City Mains, Increasing Water Supply.

COST IS ESTIMATED AT $1114

Was Recommended by Councilman Parsons and Water and Light Committee Given Power to Act.

The chief topic of discussion at the council meeting last night was the water question. One step was taken which may eventually increase the present water supply. That was the giving of the water committee the power to act in placing a pump in the well at the foot of Julian street.

The council has considered the advisability of installing an electric pump in this well for some time. In making the recommendation Dr. Parsons stated that in his opinion the pump would pay for itself and would be cheaper than an air lift pump. The pump will be run with a fifteen horse power motor and the water is forced directly into the mains at a pressure of about forty pounds. In case of fire there is an automatic shut-off which works when the pressure in the mains is above forty pounds. One firm offers the pump complete for $1114. Since the water committee was given the power to act it is expected a pump will be installed.

The question of installing water meters, which has been hanging fire for some time came up again last night. Some of the members stated that they thought the city should first get a good supply of water before installing meters. It was finally decided to get two dozen meters and install them where the city knows there is a waste of water and to all patrons who would rather use a meter. The meters will be put in by the city, the patron paying the bill. In case of removal the city will buy back the meter. It is the same plan as is used by the city in installing meters for electricity.

The petition of the property owners in Hannah street from Third to Second on the west side of the street for sidewalk and curb was granted. The petition was presented at the last meeting and has been in the hands of the street and alley committee.

Superintendent A. T. Mahin of the water and light plant told the council he had about a month's supply of coal. A coal strike is expected April 1 and as the result all manufacturing firms and railways are laying in a supply. The city had 50 cars of coal ordered but have been unable to secure the cars. Mr. Mahin said he had eight cars on the way from Kentucky and expected them almost any time, providing they got by Cincinnati without the railroads taking the coal. The city is in no immediate danger and if the eight cars arrive it will give the city a three months' supply.

Councilman Kelley suggested that the city council save considerable money by paying its bills and take advantage of the 2 per cent discount, instead of waiting the usual 60 or 90 days. It was shown that many times the city would be forced to borrow money at 6 per cent interest if the bills were to be met in this manner and in the end would be cheaper to wait until the sixty days were up. The question was referred to the finance committee. The usual claims were allowed.

TO ANTAGONIZE MILROY PATRONS

Greensburg Merchants Will Try to Raise Rumpus Over Order of Telephone Company.

ASK FREE SERVICE AT MILROY

Local Manager Says Such Plan Would be Discriminating—Decatur Company Does That.

That the merchants of Greensburg expect to stir up the business men and other Milroy patrons of the Rushville Co-Operative Telephone Company and cause a lot of trouble for this company, is to be inferred from the Greensburg newspapers. It is practically assured that certain Greensburg business men will go to Milroy and attempt to get phone patrons there to appear before the directors of the local company and request them to establish a free service between Milroy and Greensburg, or any point in Decatur county.

Of course, the Greensburg business men have a reason for this. One Greensburg merchant has already asserted in print that seventy-five per cent of the Milroy business is going to Greensburg. It appears that they want to act a pig about it and take all the trade, if they believe they are getting three-fourths of it now.

The agitation was started over a flat rate of thirty cents monthly which is charged by the Rushville company for its Milroy patrons to talk to any point in Decatur county. Greensburg boosters argued Milroy should be allowed to talk to Decatur county free of charge because Decatur county patrons are allowed to talk to Milroy people without charge. W. T. Jackson, manager of the local company, points out this is discrimination on the part of the Decatur County Independent Telephone Company in that their patrons are allowed to talk to Milroy free of charge and have to pay a toll of twenty cents to talk to any other point in Rush county.

The Rushville company expects to do away with the monthly flat rate for Decatur county service, which has been in effect ten years, and charge a ten cents toll from Milroy to any point in Decatur county. The new plan will go into effect the first of next month. Where patrons in that part of the county ask for the flat rate service to Decatur county, the local company has not refused it, because it would be discriminating against its patrons if it did, as W. T. Jackson believes. Milroy patrons not taking the flat rate now have to pay 15 cents toll, whereas after April first, all will pay a ten-cent toll.

William F. Qualls, manager of the Decatur county company is unqualifiedly in favor of charging a toll for Decatur county patrons to talk to Milroy, because he realizes that it is not fair under the present plan. But the board of directors can not see it that way because they are mostly business men who wish to continue to attract Milroy trade. The Decatur county company will be compelled to make a toll charge to Milroy in self defense when the toll charge from Milroy to Decatur county goes into effect April first.

The Greensburg News ranted in an article yesterday about the telephone situation. It talked of graft and other things, and insisted the local company did not have a right to charge for the use of its lines. The Greensburg News says that if a line were built between Milroy and Williams-town, Milroy people might take Decatur county service and not pay any toll or flat rate. On the other hand the Milroy people should consider.

Mr. Jackson says, that they would have to pay $1.75 a month phone rent, whereas they pay only $1.25 now. Even by paying the flat rate now in use, they would save twenty cents a month by remaining in the Rush county company.

Since this discussion has arisen, Mr. Jackson has discovered a twenty-cent toll is charged from Greensburg, and a fifteen-cent toll is charged from here to Greensburg. Each company keeps the toll collected and settled only on messenger fees. For this reason the rate from here to Greensburg will be raised to twenty cents the first of next month.

CLELL MAPLE WINS CASE

Gets Judgment in Connersville For Services as Trainer.

A civil suit in which Clell Maple sought judgment against Earl Matney under the allegation that the same was due him in payment for services as trainer of a horse for the defendant was tried in the circuit court yesterday, and the jury last evening reached a verdict, granting judgment in the sum of $49.88, substantially what was asked, says the Connersville News. The case was sent here from Rush county on a change of venue and attracted little local attention.

FRANK J. CAN'T UNDERSTAND IT

Lieutenant Governor Does Not See Why Marion County Men Have to Vote For Ralston.

LOCAL MAN HAS NO CHANCE

Just what to do with Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall of Rushville, is one of the things that is causing some of the machine Democrats a bit of concern, says the Indianapolis News today. Mr. Hall is an avowed candidate for the nomination for governor, and he says he has some delegates promised who will vote for him in the State convention. Of course, he has not a sufficient number to nominate him, but he thinks he ought to have a fair show anyway.

"I hear that the entire Marion county delegation has got to vote for Ralston," he said yesterday. "But I can't understand it. These delegates were elected at primaries, and were not instructed for any candidate. Then, why is it that they have got to vote for Ralston? It looks strange to me. I think this would be a good time to begin to break the back of that kind of politics."

Mr. Hall was circulating around talking with a number of anti-machine Democrats to see just what was going on.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Ben H. Gardner and Maude M. Posey.

CONDE WON.

Scott Conde defeated Charles Green in the pool tournament last night by a score of 100 to 52. Conde had little difficulty winning. Tonight Bert Osborn plays Al Linville.

MANY AT ROLL CALL.

The Roll Call meeting of the local Red Men lodge last night was well attended. Of the 389 members of the Rushville wigwam, 76 were present last night. After the roll call some degree work was given in which some degree teams of several years ago participated.

HE HAS LEARNED LIFE'S TRAGEDIES

That is the Reason Thomas Brooks Fletcher is Prepared to Lecture on "Tragedies of Unprepared."

AT MEN'S MEETING SUNDAY

Inherited Ambition to Become an Orator—Worked His Way Through College.

Some people have to choose a profession, but Thomas Brooks Fletcher, who will lecture at the Men's Big Meeting Sunday at the Christian church on "The Tragedies of the Unprepared," had no choice.

He inherited the ambition to become an orator. The first lecture he ever heard was when someone gave him a ticket to hear General Gordon on "The Last Days of the Confederacy." He had just completed his course in Normal School, and it was his first term at college. When he returned to his room that night he told his college chums what he intended to prepare himself for. He announced his intentions to become a lecturer like the man he had just heard at the theater. They all gave him the laugh. A few years ago he returned to his Alma Mater during the summer term and lectured to a crowded house. Those who laughed have ceased to laugh long ago. He used to go out to the woods, back of the college campus, and in the hay loft of the stable that stood back of the fraternity house and practice oratory by the hour. These were his two favorite places of seclusion. Lots of people thought it was a joke. The student whose ambition afforded them so much amusement when he confided to them that he intended lecturing sometime, has won greater distinction than any other man the college has graduated within recent years.

He began lecturing some while he was still in school. His ability as an orator enabled him to leave college with honors in oratory and debate. He was the youngest man who ever represented his institution in the State oratorical contest, the highest honor of its kind the college confers. He won the Inter-Society Debate and he won every literary debating contest he ever entered. The judges of the various contests during those four years prophesied that he would have a great future as a thinker and writer.

He is a student of sociology and economic science and has received a wider education than the average college man gets. He has studied life and social conditions from the standpoint of one who has worked along side those who toil. He has lived their life and he understands their problems. Part of the time while he was attending normal school he lived in the old shack and boarded himself. This was before he entered college. He once secured a position in a restaurant for seventeen dollars a month and board.

During some of his vacation he worked in the boiler shops. His first position of this kind was with the Reeves Boiler Works. He received one dollar and twenty-five cents a day. His first task in the shop was unloading boiler plates from flat cars. There were fifteen or twenty men in the gang of laborers with whom he worked. The gang consisted of foreigners of every description. The foreman of the gang was a foreigner. When he wanted the college student to lift, he could not talk enough English to make him understand, so he made signs and swore in his native language. It was not very pleasant work, but it created an appetite and made muscle and was part of a valuable education. After working here

GERMAN AUTO TO START

SPENCER WISHART ENTERS HIS
MERCEDES IN 500-MILE RACE.

Wealthy Young Sportsman to Drive
Own Machine in Long Race at Indianapolis Speedway on Memorial Day.

Spencer E. Wishart, of Port Chester, New York, the wealthy young sportsman who drives Mercedes racing cars, has entered the 500-mile International Sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial Day.

Wishart's entry names the same car which the Easterner drove in the last 500-mile race, finishing fourth. The bore of the cylinder is 5.1 inches and the piston stroke is 7.1, giving a piston displacement of 583 cubic inches, which is seventeen cubic inches below the limit of the race. Wishart's car is almost a duplicate of the Mercedes entered by Ralph DePalma. Both of these cars made a wonderful showing at Savannah in the recent Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races; Wishart finishing third in the Vanderbilt, while DePalma finished second in the Vanderbilt and third in the Grand Prize.

At this time last year there had been but four entries made to the first 500-mile race, so the prospects for the second one seem even better than those of 1911. The other entries to the race consist of two Stutz cars, entered by the Ideal Motor Car Company, of Indianapolis; a Fiat, entered by E. E. Hewlett, of Los Angeles, Cal., with Joe Matson named to drive; two Case cars, entered by the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company, of Racine, Wis. Harvey Herrick and Louis Disbrow have been nominated as the pilots of the two Case entries. There are also two Nationals and a Lexington.

The fact that such famous drivers have been entered early in the year, and that all the cars so far named are among the foremost racing machines in the world, makes it seem certain that the field of starters next May will have even more class than the bunch that took the word from starter Wagner last year.

Owing to the fact that there have been so many early requests for seats and parking space reservations for the next race, the Speedway management opened the seat sale on January 15. From that time on seats may be obtained for the next Memorial Day event either in person or by mail. Indianapolis hotels have been besieged with reservation requests already and are booking their rooms for visitors next May. The Speedway has arranged to provide 4,000 rooms in private homes in addition to the hotel accommodations, so that a crowd of 150,000 persons may be cared for easily.

One of the interesting features in connection with the next 500-mile race is that the foreign manufacturers have taken a greater interest than ever before and many requests for particulars have been received from European motor-car makers.

The entry list so far for the race shows that eight American cars have been entered as against three foreign machines. All of the foreign cars are privately owned, DePalma's mount being the property of E. J. Schroeder, of New York; Matson's Fiat being owned by E. E. Hewlett, of Los Angeles, and Wishart's Mercedes his own personal property. This leads the racing enthusiasts in the country to believe that motor car racing is becoming more of a sporting proposition than ever before, and eventually it may become a competition entered only by cars owned privately without affiliation with factories or dealers.

Accident Fails to Get Harry Knight's Nerve

Harry Knight, who will drive a six-cylinder Lexington racing car in the second annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial Day. Knight was a victim of one of the most thrilling accidents ever seen at the Speedway, when during the last 500-mile race he skidded into the pit walls and demolished his car together with that of Herb Lytle and escaped practically uninjured. Knight ascribed the cause of his accident to the fact that he was trying to turn his car sufficiently to keep from running over a mechanic who had fallen from a car just ahead of him in the race. An effort was made to obtain a Carnegie medal for the young driver. The car which he will drive next Memorial Day is similar in type to the car which he drove last year for the Wescott Company.

Tries Again to Land Rich Auto Race Purse

Charley Merz, nominated as driver of one of the National racing cars at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in the second annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race next Memorial Day. Merz is one of the young drivers in the business in years, but old in experience. He has participated in events at the Speedway ever since it was first constructed in 1909 and has been a successful driver. Merz finished eighth in the first 500-mile Sweepstakes race, driving a National car.

BIG SALARY FOR PILOT

AUTO RACERS DRAW GREAT SUMS FOR WINNING CONTESTS.

Figures in Indianapolis 500-Mile Race
Run Up into Millions When Computed on Annual Basis.

Who wants a salary of $26,280,000 a year?

The figures almost stagger the average person who figures that a salary of $2,500 a year is good, yet the use of a little calculation shows that the winner of the second annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes motor race on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on Memorial Day will be drawing a salary of that rate for the time consumed in the driving contest.

The figures would amount much higher if the side money which will be given along with the $50,000 purse is considered. The winner will receive $20,000 from the Speedway, while the makers of various accessories will contribute about $5,000 additional to his pot of gold and donate liberally to the winners of the other eleven prizes offered, which brings the total to $50,000.

On a mileage basis the winner will receive $40 for every mile driven, and the rate of travel maintained in the race will be more than seventy-five miles an hour. This is the richest offer ever made in the history of automobile racing and will prove a magnet for the greatest pilots in the world. True, the race will be one of the toughest battles ever fought in the cylinder conflict world, for 500 miles is a test supreme of both men and metal, but the gold and glory are greater than the hardships which will be undergone, and danger is not an element of consideration by the fearless masters of the motor.

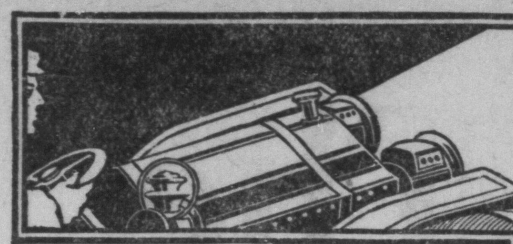

The international character of the event is assured, as the French, German and Italian makers are as much interested as the Americans. From the standpoint of the spectator this contest will be one of the most thrilling in the annals of motordom. Seven hours of a speed battle royal is what they will see, and the motoring public to-day demands more from men and machinery than any other class of people. That demand is to be satisfied at the cost of thousands of dollars.

And yet perhaps the reader wonders why the Speedway should hang up a purse of $50,000.

The manufacturer does not enter the racing game simply to see his car whirl round and round the track. He enters the game for the benefits that he receives from the publicity attached to the event, to study his car while subjected to the test of high speed and to learn its possibilities.

The racing game is an expensive proposition. The drivers do not care to compete in events where sufficient prize money is not offered. Neither does the manufacturer care to race for charity. Thus the Speedway, by hanging up this great purse, settling the date of the race almost at the opening of the season, and with its specially constructed track, will be able to give the public not only a long race, but it will bring the best cars in America and possibly several from Europe to the track for the five-century grind.

Jagersburger's Leg Is Amputated.
Joe Jagersburger, famous as a racing driver, and named to pilot a Case car in the second annual 500-mile race at the Motor Speedway May 30, has driven his last race. Jagersburger's leg was amputated at Columbia, S. C., in an effort to save the life of the noted racing driver. Jagersburger was injured in practice before the Charleston, S. C., races last fall while driving a Case car. The car plunged into the fence and the "Flying Dutchman" came out with a broken and mashed leg that refused to heal. Jagersburger was teammate of the late Louis Strang in the first 500-mile race and a broken steering knuckle on his car caused the big smashup at the grandstand during the race.

MAKERS READY FOR AUTO SHOW

MOTORISTS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER
TENT SHOW AT INDIANAPOLIS
OPENING MARCH 23.

Indianapolis Exposition Said to Be
Most Unique in Annals of Motor Car Expositions—Thousands to Attend Daily.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — One million dollars' worth of the world's best motor cars are being housed under three solid city blocks of canvas in preparation for the Indianapolis Automobile Show, which opens March 23. For the first time in the history of the Hoosier state all of the motor car makers and dealers have joined in one big exposition to display their wares to the public. Under the auspices of the Indianapolis Trade Association the first real "motor circus" will be covered by $11,000 worth of tent and hold open house from March 23 to 30.

For several years it has been the custom in Indianapolis to hold the show in the various salesrooms and only the makers represented in the city could show their cars, but there has been a decided change in arrangements this year and every manufacturer has been offered the chance to come in so that the show embraces all of the most popular makes of cars produced in the United States.

In addition to the motor car manufacturers there will be hundreds of accessory manufacturers represented, and even the motorcycle dealers will have their machines on display. It is believed now that enough exhibits will be in place at the opening of the show to prove that the promoters were correct in their idea that a tent show would prove popular.

Worthy Rival of Chicago Show.

When the canvas top plan was first suggested it was ridiculed by many, but the feasibility became so apparent that all soon fell in line with the result that the coming exposition is a worthy rival of the Chicago show and other displays which have proved so highly successful in the past.

The mammoth tent will extend around three sides of University park in the very heart of Indianapolis, covering the city streets which will be closed to traffic from curb to curb. The streets affected by the automobile show are North Meridian, from New York street to Vermont street; Vermont street, from Meridian to Pennsylvania street, and New York street, from Meridian street to Pennsylvania street.

The task of making the canvas top to shelter the visitors at the automobile show was the greatest ever attempted by the American tent makers. The pavements in these three squares have been repaired and leveled so they are as smooth as a building floor. Every effort has been made to thoroughly cleanse the thoroughfares, so that the pavement is perhaps the cleanest it has been since its construction. All of the exhibitors are planning to cover the floor space in their various booths with rugs and other floor coverings so that the show will present as inviting an appearance as either that of Chicago or New York.

Many exhibitors who never appeared in Indianapolis before have announced their intention of displaying their products at this exposition.

Thousands Will Visit Indianapolis.

Thousands of visitors are expected from all parts of the state of Indiana, during the week of March 23 to 30, and, in view of this fact, most of the railroad and traction lines have prepared special rates for automobile show visitors.

The merchants of Indianapolis are making special inducements and planning special bargain sales in view of the fact that many of the visitors who are dealers in other cities will desire to accomplish two purposes in coming to the show, and purchasing their spring stock.

Night will be turned into day throughout the week as thousands of incandescent and arc lights will be dotted throughout the tent, making it possible for visitors in the evening to appreciate the exhibit fully as much as those who attend during the day. With this myriad of lights constantly burning it is believed that the big tent will be entirely comfortable and offer fully as inviting a place to visit as if the show were in a building.

All Details Arranged.

Under the direction of Showmaster John Orman, every detail has been carried through and the only adverse condition that the show could possibly meet would be inclement weather; however, the weather man has predicted that the majority of days during which the show is to be held will be fair and warm.

Despite the fact that the tent is immense, the floor space was all taken up soon after the announcement was made that the space was ready for sale. Several outside companies made application too late, and in instances where they were not able to obtain part of the space which had already been procured by some other company, they were obliged to forego the opportunity of being represented; this, however, did not occur in many instances, and the Indianapolis Automobile Tent Show is destined to be the most successful the Hoosier Capital has ever known.

PARSONS HAD CHARGE OF THE SEGAL LOAN

Letters From Sugar Trust's Files Produced In Court.

New York, March 20.—There were read to the jury, as part of the government's case against John E. Parsons, Washington B. Thomas and the other defendants in the sugar case on trial in the federal building, many letters of Mr. Parsons, Mr. Havemeyer and the late Gustav E. Kissell, tending to show the course of the alleged conspiracy for which the defendants were indicted after the making by Mr. Kissell of the $1,250,000 loan to Adolph Segal, the Philadelphia promoter. The government is relying largely on these letters to convert Mr. Parsons and the others of the crime of conspiracy.

These letters were obtained chiefly from the files of the sugar trust, and showed that Mr. Parsons had charge of the entire matter of the Segal loan, the object of which, it is alleged, was to close up Segal's rival refinery. "Segal is squirming," wrote Mr. Parsons to Mr. Havemeyer in one letter, and there were others showing how Parsons kept urging Mr. Kissell to sell Segal's collateral when the loan was due. Kissell, it appeared, objected somewhat to being made the one who was to apply the screws and came in for some suspicion, it appeared, from Mr. Havemeyer, who wrote to Mr. Parsons, in one instance, that he did not trust him.

250 TO 40

This Was the Vote in Favor of House Excise Tax Bill.

Washington, March 20.—The Democrats of the house put through, by the overwhelming vote of 250 to 40, their excise tax measure, which is intended to raise the fifty odd millions of revenue that would be lost through the passage of the free sugar bill. And they had the satisfaction of seeing eighty Republicans climb aboard their band wagon at the last moment. Of course it was a foregone conclusion that the Republican insurgents would vote for the excise measure, but it was not imagined that any regulars would fall in line.

Acute interest is expressed by leaders of both parties as to what may happen to the excise measure in the senate.

HELD TO ANSWER

Woman Globe Trotter Charged With Smuggling Jewels.

New York, March 20.—Mrs. Blanche M. Carson, a widow, who in August last started from her home, San Francisco, on a lonesome journey around the world, was held up by the customs men on her arrival here and on her own admission that she had attempted to smuggle about $20,000 worth of pearls and other gems bought in India, she was arrested and held in $2,000 bail for examination. She declared she could not feel happy again until she had given up everything that she had attempted to smuggle. Her only excuse for trying to evade paying duty was that she had heard the duty would be "excessive" and that she did not feel justified in putting up the money.

No Official Investigation.

Winchester, Ind., March 20.—There will be no official investigation of the death of David Auker, who died near here under mysterious circumstances. The prosecuting attorney began an investigation, but soon decided he did not have sufficient evidence on which to continue it. The coroner came to the conclusion that the man died from the effects of morphine poisoning.

EARLY BREAK UP OF MINE STRIKE

British Government Expects Miners to Return to Work.

LEGISLATION TO THAT END

Though the Feeling, Expressed by Bonar Law, the Opposition Leader, That the Government Has Accepted a Wrong Course in Introducing Its Minimum Wage Bill Is Generally Felt, Public Approves Measure.

London, March 20.—Although it is acknowledged that the government did everything possible to bring the operatives and miners to an adjustment of their differences, the feeling appears to be widespread in parliament that the wrong course has been adopted by the introduction in the house of commons of the government's minimum wage bill.

Bonar Law, the opposition leader in the house, expressed the thought in the minds of nearly everyone when he said the government's alternative was to let the strike take its course, giving assurances that miners who were willing to work would be protected. The only other alternative was for the government to step in and stop the strike. Mr. Law doubted the effectiveness of legislation to end the strike. A crowded house listened to Mr. Asquith with intense interest when he spoke on the bill.

In the house of lords Earl Crewe, the government leader, intimated that the government was in hopes that the miners would begin to resume work on Monday. It did not, he said, expect that this would be simultaneous, but the men would undoubtedly return to work gradually.

TAFT AND MITCHELL

Will Talk Over Plans to Avert, if Possible, Big Coal Strike.

Washington, March 20.—The impending coal strike, which it is believed will begin on April 1 unless operators and miners reach a satisfactory agreement meantime, has stirred the federal government and members of congress into activity to devise means to prevent a complete tie-up of the industries of the country, such as would be caused by a failure of the coal supply.

The proposed conference between President Taft and John Mitchell, former head of the United Mine Workers, to be held here the latter part of this week, indicates that the president realizes the seriousness of the situation which confronts the commercial and manufacturing interests of the country, and is anxious to take steps to avert if possible the threatened strike.

DON'T PULL OUT THE GRAY HAIRS

A Few Applications of a Simple Remedy Will Bring Back the Natural Color.

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place" is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead some good, reliable hair-restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old-fashioned "sage tea" which our grandmothers used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

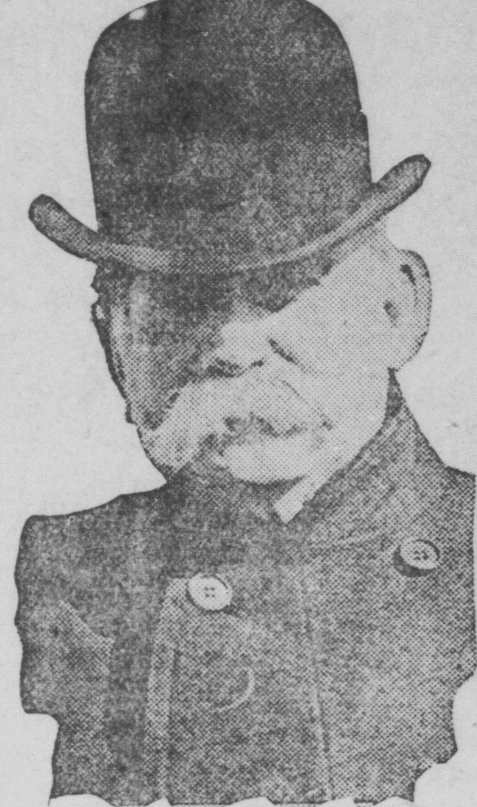

Don't delay a hair minute. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin.

MOUNTAIN OUTLAWS BAFFLE TWO STATES

The Allen Gang Displays Its Elusive Craft

Mount Airy, N. C., March 20.—As elusive as dangerous are the Virginia outlaws, who were supposed to be surrounded by a cordon of detectives, for so far their natural mountain instincts and craftiness has enabled them to escape arrest, and just when officers think they are ready to close in upon them, they are gone.

At the top of "Squirrels Spur," which is simply a mountain path, Sidna Allen owns a 200-acre farm. There is not a more daring man on earth than he, and, unlike his brother Floyd, who has shot his way to notoriety and prison, he is smooth, discreet, quick and intelligent. He has amassed a fortune by application to business, and instead of living in a cabin, resides in the handsomest home in Carroll county, Virginia. He is devoted to his wife, who is an educated and refined woman, and his children.

If the outlaws are still in the mountains they of course will be captured, but it may take weeks or even months to run them down, or kill them, for the country in which they are hiding comprises a large area, and is an ideal place for them to elude capture.

The people living in the section are either their relatives or neighbors, who would not only provide them with food and shelter, but aid them in evading arrest.

The Germans Are Pessimistic.

Berlin, March 20.—Political quarters are excited over a multiplicity of rumors, any one of which may be true, but none of which can be confirmed. The Kaiser's postponement of his trip to Corfu is still unexplained, but the best informed believe that it is caused by a cabinet crisis. The feeling here is generally pessimistic.

Obituary.

Mary C. Harry, daughter of Daniel and Elizabeth Harry was born Oct. 19, 1855. At the early age of 6 years she was adopted into the home of Solomon and Nancy Furry of Rush county, Ind., where she was tenderly, and religiously brought up.

On August 16, 1874 she was married to John Morford to which union were born six children, 4 sons and two daughters, Elmar, Birlie, Solomon, Mrs. Joe Selin, Mrs. Gilbert Manlove and Harry, who passed into the unseen so recently.

So she leaves these three sons, two daughters, husband and three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Kimmer, of Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Daniel Sherin, of Greentown, and Mrs. John Duckworth of Indianapolis, and many friends in the world from which she herself, on March 11, 8 o'clock a. m., 1912 fled away, not a long life, aged 56 years, 5 months, and yet to read between the lines, how much has been experienced by the one around whose casket we gather today.

The bright joyousness of childhood so carefully guarded by the loving ones who took her into their home and hearts as their own child; followed by girlhood with all its thoughtlessness. Then, the more thoughtful years, with the realization that there was sorrow in the world, when she turned with full purpose of heart to the loving Christ "Who Taketh Away the sins of the World" and in true womanhood has lived her mother life loved and honored by all. She was a life member of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions. In our Auxiliary Society her unobtrusive and gentle presence was ever appreciated. We shall miss her.

Get the Water First.

Councilman George F. Moore hit the nail squarely on the head, to quote an old expression, at council meeting last night when he said the city should get some water before it considered the purchase of meters. Nothing was ever truer. The city needs more water before it needs water meters.

There is one argument for water meters and the members of the council are using it to advantage, that they will stop the waste by patrons and will augment the supply to a great extent. Granted again, that water meters will stop the waste and increase the supply, but even at that is there any reason to believe the water wasted daily in Rushville would be a great enough addition to the supply to prevent a famine during the summer months.

It is hardly possible. Most patrons of the municipal plant are agreed that the city needs a greater water supply. They are agreed, also, that water meters are the only means to prevent the waste of water, which is becoming more valuable as the years slip by. That good water is more valuable—the kind of water that comes from driven wells—is apparent. Any number of cities have found it necessary to abandon the wells in order to supply their patrons.

The council finally took a step last night in the effort to get more water. The water committee was given power to act in reference to the purchase of a pump to force water from the well at the eastern extremity of First street into the mains at that point. The council has been debating this question for some time. Over a month ago it might have acted as it did last night, and the pump would likely have been purchased by this time.

The well was dug last summer—so were a number of others. They were all dry holes with the exception of this one, and the council believes the well should be utilized since it represents a lot of money paid out last summer for digging wells.

The city treasurer is meeting with some opposition in collecting water rents. Last year patrons paid their water rents in advance and during the summer they were not allowed to sprinkle, and many of them could not get any water at all for domestic purposes. Some patrons contend they should have water this summer in return for the rent they paid in advance last summer, while there are others who take the stand that they want some proof that they will get water this summer before they pay any rents in advance.

Some one ought to muzzle Ed Lee, former State chairman and erstwhile State leader of the Roosevelt forces. He sends out a hundred or more interviews a day, but he is not doing much harm, since he does not break in print more than an average of once a day.

Until the year 1912 Woodrow Wilson never manifested any particular solicitude for the common people. Most of his life has been spent with the exclusive set, but it may be that the common people have the most votes.

In the Flicker Houses.

Place: a local home of reels, seven rows front, third aisle over and first two seats.

Time: last night.

Characters: two brawny men who spend thirty cents a week on such foolishness.

"This is an Edison," says the first man.

"Sure, I'd know that without the E in the corner," replied the second man. "I have saw that harone enough to know her when I see her now."

"Sure enough," says the first man, "I seen this girl in 'Cinderella' the other night. You see that reel? It was some swell. Don't miss it if it ever comes back. This girl here is a real actor. I don't see how she ever kept off a regular stage."

"Why, I know this girl," remarked the second. "She's the one that wouldn't stand for the rich guy in the fulum the other night, and took the grocery boy, don't you remember? Of course you do."

"Let's see, this reel is 'Earning a Wife,' ain't it? That oughtn't to be any trouble, but that harone's goin' t' make it prett' lively."

Gasps, expressions of awe and wonder emanate from the dark spot, made by the two commentators, as the operator unwinds the tantalizing plot. Eventually the film is unreeled and the regular attendants retire to the green room to discuss the quality of the acting.

CHAPTER XI.

The Log Hut in the Mountains.

What awakened the woman she did not know; in all probability it was the bright sunlight streaming through the narrow window before her. The cabin was so placed that the sun did not strike fairly into the room until it was some hours high, consequently she had her long sleep out entirely undisturbed. The man had made no effort whatever to awaken her. Whatever tasks he had performed since day-break had been so silently accomplished that she had not been aware of them.

So soon as he could do so, he had left the cabin and was now busily engaged in his daily duties outside the cabin and beyond earshot. He knew that sleep was the very best medicine for her, and it was best that she should not be disturbed until in her own good time she awoke.

The clouds had emptied themselves during the night, and the wind had at last died away toward morning, and now there was a great calm abroad in the land. The sunlight was dazzling. Outside, where the untempered rays beat full upon the crests of the mountains, it was doubtless warm, but within the cabin it was chilly. The fire had long since burned completely away, and he had not entered the room to replenish it. Yet Enid Maitland had lain snug and warm under her blankets. She presently tested her wounded foot, by moving it gently, and discovered agreeably that it was much less painful than she had anticipated. The treatment the night before had been very successful.

She did not get up immediately, but the coldness of the room struck her so soon as she got out of bed. Upon her first awakening she was hardly conscious of her situation; her sleep had been too long and too heavy, and her awakening too gradual for any sudden appreciation of the new condition. It was not until she had stared around the walls of the rude cabin for some time, that she realized where she was and what had happened. When she did so she arose at once.

Her first impulse was to call. Never in her life had she felt such death-like stillness. Even in the camp almost always there had been a whisper of breeze through the pine trees, or the chatter of water over the rocks. But here there were no pine trees and no sound of rushing brook came to her. It was almost painful. She was keen to dress and go out of the house. She stood upon the rude puncheon floor on one foot, scarcely able yet to bear even the lightest pressure upon the other. There were her clothes on chairs and tables before the fireplace. Such had been the heat thrown out by that huge blaze that a brief inspection convinced her that everything was thoroughly dry. Dry or wet, she must needs put them on, since they were all she had. She noticed that there were no locks on the doors, and she realized that the only protection she had was the sense of decency and the honor of the man. That she had been allowed her sleep unmolested made her the more confident on that account.

She dressed hastily, although it was the work of some difficulty in view of her wounded foot, and of the stiff condition of her rough, dried apparel. Presently she was completely clothed, save for that disrobed foot. With the big clumsy bandages upon it, she could not draw her stocking over it, and even if she succeeded in that, she could in no way make shift to put on her boot. The situation was awkward, the predicament annoying. She was wearing bloomers and a short skirt for her mountain climbing, and she did not know quite what to do. She thought of tearing up one of the rough, unbleached sheets and wrapping it around her leg, but she hesitated as to that. It was very trying. Otherwise, she would have opened the door and stepped out into the open air. Now she felt herself virtually a prisoner.

She had been thankful that no one had disturbed her, but now she wished for the man. In her helplessness she thought of his resourcefulness with eagerness. The man, however, did not appear, and there was nothing for her to do but to wait for him. Taking one of the blankets from the bed, she sat down and drew it across her knees and took stock of the room.

The cabin was built of logs, the room was large, perhaps 12 by 20 feet, with one side completely taken up by the stone fireplace; there were two windows, one on either side of the outer door, which opened toward the southwest. The walls were unplastered save in the chinks between the rough hewn logs of which it was made. Over the fireplace and around on one side ran a rude shelf covered with books. She had no opportunity to examine them, although later she would become familiar with every one of them.

Into the walls on the other side were driven wooden pegs; from some of them hung a pair of snow shoes, a heavy Winchester rifle, fishing tackle and other necessary wilderness paraphernalia. On the puncheon floor wolf and bear skins were spread. In one corner against the wall again were piled several splendid pairs of horns from the mountain sheep.

The furniture consisted of the single bed or berth in which she had slept, built against the wall in one of the corners, a rude table on which were writing materials and some books. A row of curtained shelves, evidently made of small boxes and surmounted by a mirror, occupied another space. There were two or three chairs, the handiwork of the owner, comfortable enough in spite of their rude construction. On some other pegs hung a slicker and a sou'wester, a fur overcoat, a fur cap and other rough clothes; a pair of heavy boots stood by the fireplace. On another shelf there were a number of scientific instruments, the nature of which she could not determine, although she could see that they were all in a beautiful state of preservation.

There was plenty of rude comfort in the room, which was excessively manly. In fact, there was nothing anywhere which in any way spoke of the existence of woman—except a picture in a small, rough, wooden frame which stood on the table before which she sat down. The picture was of a handsome woman—naturally Enid Maitland saw that before anything else. She would not have been a woman if that had not engaged her attention more forcibly than any other fact in the room. She picked it up and studied it long and earnestly, quite unconscious of the reason for her interest, and yet a certain uneasy feeling might have warned her of what was toward in her bosom.

WOMEN'S WOES

Rushville Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Sick kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and much suffering is saved. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. William Merrill, 332 West Fourth street, Rushville, Ind., says: "For some time I suffered from a weak and painful back and I was also subject to headaches. I had but little energy and the simplest of my household duties was an arduous task. My husband finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills for me at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug store and since taking them, my condition has been better in every way. I am grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for their good work."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

This young woman had not yet had time to get her bearings. She had not been able to realize all the circumstances of her adventure. So soon as she did so she would know that into her life a man had come, and whatever the course of that life might be in the future, he would never again be out of it.

It was therefore with mingled and untranslatable emotions that she studied this picture. She marked with a certain resentment the bold beauty quite apparent, despite the dim fading outlines of a photograph never very good. So far as she could discern, the woman was dark haired and dark eyed—her direct antithesis! The casual viewer would have found little of fault in the presentment, but Enid Maitland's eyes were sharpened by what, pray? At any rate, she decided that the woman was of a rather coarse fiber, that in things finer and higher she would be found wanting. She was such a woman, so the girl reasoned acutely, as might inspire a passionate affection in a strong hearted, reckless youth, but whose charms being largely physical, would pall in longer and more intimate association; a dangerous rival in a charge, but not so formidable in a steady campaign.

These thoughts were the result of long and earnest inspection, and it was with some reluctance that the girl at last put the photograph aside and looked toward the door. She was hungry, ravenously so. She began to be a little alarmed, and had just about made up her mind to rise and stumble out as she was, when she heard steps outside and a knock on the door.

"What is it?" she asked in response. "May I come in?" "Yes," was the quick answer. The man opened the door, left it ajar and entered the room. "Have you been awake long?" he began abruptly. "Not very."

THIS SPRING

If You Take Vinol Now You Will be Strong All Summer.

"I can get along pretty well in the spring," said a feeble looking woman the other day "but the summer always pulls me down so much."

The trouble with her was that she did not know that she ought to prepare in spring to stand the summer—then she would get along all right.

Our delicious cod liver and iron remedy, Vinol, is the best spring medicine because it builds you up—makes you eat more and digest better—puts healthy color in your cheeks. Mrs. P. O. Barker, of Bowen's Mill, Ga., writes "When I was badly run down last spring, I took Vinol in an effort to regain my health and strength, and it did not disappoint me. It made me feel as well as ever."

So, to all weak, pale, bloodless, rundown people we say "Take Vinol this spring and be strong all summer." We guarantee Vinol to satisfy you and refund your money if it does not. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggist, Rushville, Ind.

"I didn't disturb you, because you needed sleep more than anything else. How do you feel?"

"Greatly refreshed, thank you."

"And hungry, I suppose?"

"Very."

"I will soon remedy that. Your foot?"

"It seems much better, but I—"

The girl hesitated, blushing. "I can't get my shoe on, and—"

"Shall I have another look at it?"

"No, I don't believe it will be necessary. If I may have some of that liniment, or whatever it was you put on it, and more of that bandage, I think I can attend to it myself, but, you see, my stockings and my boot—"

The man nodded; he seemed to understand. He went to his cracker box chiffonier and drew from it a long, coarse woolen stocking.

"That is the best that I can do for you," he said.

"And that will do very nicely," said the girl. "It will cover the bandage, and that is the main thing."

The man laid on the table by the side of the stocking another strip of bandage torn from the same sheet. As he did so, he noticed the picture. He caught it up quickly, a dark flush spreading over his face, and holding it in his hand, he turned abruptly away.

"I will go and cook you some breakfast while you get yourself ready. If you have not washed, you'll find a bucket of water and a basin and towel outside the door."

He went through the inner door as suddenly as he had come through the outer one. He was a man of few words, and whatever social grace he might once have possessed, and in more favorable circumstances exhibited, was not noticeable now. The tenderness with which he had caressed her the night before had also vanished.

His bearing had been cool, almost harsh and forbidding, and his manner was as grim as his appearance. The conversation had been a brief one, and her opportunity for inspection of him consequently limited. Yet she had taken him in. He was a tall, splendid man. No longer young, perhaps, but in the prime of life and vigor. His complexion was dark and burned brown by long exposure to sun and wind, winter and summer. In spite of the brown, there was a certain color, a hue of health in his cheeks. His eyes were hazel, sometimes brown, sometimes gray, and sometimes blue, she afterward learned. A short thick closely cut beard and mustache covered the lower part of his face disguised but not hiding the squareness of his jaw and the firmness of his lips.

He had worn his cap when he entered, and when he took it off she noticed that his dark hair was tinged with white. He was dressed in a leather hunting suit, somewhat the worse for wear, but fitting him in a way to give free play to all his muscles. His movements were swift, energetic and graceful. She did not wonder that he had so easily hurled the bear to one side and had managed to carry her—no light weight, indeed!—over what she dimly recognized must have been a horrible trail, which, buffeted as he was, would have been impossible to a man of less splendid vigor than he.

The cabin was low ceiled, and as she sat looking up at him, he had towered above her until he seemed to fill it. Naturally, she had scrutinized his every action, as she had hung on his every word. His swift and somewhat startled movement, his frowning as he had seized the picture on which she had gazed with such interest, aroused the liveliest surprise and curiosity in her heart.

Who was this woman? Why was he so quick to remove the picture from her gaze? Thoughts rushed tumultuously through her brain, but she realized at once that she lacked time to indulge them. She could hear him moving about in the other room. She threw aside the blanket with which she had draped herself, changed the bandage on her foot, drew on the heavy woolen stocking which, of course, was miles too big for her, but which easily took in her foot and ankle encumbered as they were by the rude, heavy but effective wrapping. Thereafter she hobbled to the door and stood for a moment almost agast at the splendor and magnificence before her.

TAKEN WITH THE MONEY ON THEM

New Mexico Legislators Accused of Accepting Bribes.

A BIG SENATORIAL SCANDAL

Four Members of the House of Representatives of the New State Who Had Been For Andrews Are Charged With Accepting $500 Each From Fall's Manager and the Marked Bills Were Found in Their Pockets.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 20.—Following the sensational arrest red-handed of four members of the legislature, charged with bribe-taking in the interest of United States senators, never has New Mexico been stirred as it has in the past twenty-four hours. The men were arrested just after they had accepted from the manager for A. B. Fall, one of the senatorial candidates, $500 each, and when they were searched the money, which was in marked bills furnished by the Republican executive committee, was found on them. The men arrested were all Republicans, and it is understood were pledged to vote for H. Andrews, formerly delegate in congress and for years allied with the Quay forces in Pennsylvania. This fact was known when they presented themselves to the manager for A. B. Fall, rival Republican candidate, who reported the matter to the Republican executive committee. Following their arrest the state Republican committee's chairman presented resignations in blank to them for their signatures, and they signed. The accused men were then taken to the county jail, where they remained until released in custody of deputies of the sergeant-at-arms of the house. When the house reconvened the resignations of the four representatives were read. Then a joint communication was read from the prisoners stating that they had signed the resignations under threats and that they now wished to withdraw the same. The house appointed a committee of fifteen to investigate the case fully and report at earliest possible moment. Many believe that if the investigation develops the facts as the public knows them, the men will be expelled instead of allowed to resign. Certain it is there will be no attempt to whitewash them.

The first ballot for senator did not result in an election. Andrews had only twelve supporters, and as he had been considered the strongest Republican candidate, he may have lost others than the four under arrest, because of Fall's agitation against bribe taking.

HELD UP TRAIN

Mississippi Bandits Rob Express Car on the Mobile & Ohio.

Corinth, Miss., March 20.—A north-bound passenger train on the Mobile & Ohio railroad was held up by four bandits seven miles south of Corinth, at 8 o'clock last evening. The express car safe was dynamited and robbed of its contents, consisting of a large number of valuable packages. The first intimation of the hold-up was the approach of one of the bandits with the tender of the engine presenting a pistol at Engineer Wilder and Fireman Kaufman, demanding that they stop and follow his instructions. They were directed by him to proceed up the track a short distance where, under cover of the bandit's pistols, they and Express Messenger Snoddy were forced to remain until the other bandits had blown open the express car safe. The passengers were not apprised of anything occurring.

Mrs. Grace Returns North.

Atlanta, Ga., March 20.—Bond for $7,500 having been secured for Mrs. E. H. Grace, who is accused of shooting her husband, she was released from jail last night. Accompanied by her attorneys, she went to the terminal station and boarded a northbound train. She will go to Washington and Philadelphia, the latter her old home.

A BUSY DAY FOR THE DEMOCRATS

They Are Fixing Things Up for Tomorrow's Convention.

A GATHERING OF THE CLANS

Party Leaders From All Parts of the State Have Gathered at Indianapolis Today to Mingle With the Arriving Delegates to Tomorrow's State Convention, in Which Several Interesting Contests Are Promised.

Indianapolis, March 20.—Indiana's Democratic hosts have gathered here today in strong force in preparation for the state convention tomorrow. With the arrival of both of the United States senators from this state and most of the Indiana representatives in congress, interest in the pre-convention proceedings took on new life and the corridors of the Denison hotel, where the candidates have their headquarters, are thronged with delegates to the convention and party workers from all parts of the state.

Following precedent which usually gives the two-year officers in the state-house a second term without opposition, and since the withdrawal of Representative Boehne from the gubernatorial race practically conceded the nomination of Samuel M. Ralston as head of the ticket, the only contests will be for the offices of lieutenant governor, reporter for the supreme and appellate courts and for judges of the supreme and appellate courts. Though it is conceded that Mr. Ralston has the delegates to nominate him with a hurrah, Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall is an avowed candidate for the nomination for governor, and he says he has some delegates promised who will vote for him. Of course he has not a sufficient number to nominate him, but he thinks he ought to have a chance to get his name before the convention.

With the entrance of Leonard B. Clore of Johnson county and Dr. T. D. Scales of Booneville as candidates for the nomination for lieutenant governor, there are now six candidates in the field for that office. Besides Scales and Clore there are Clay W. Metsker, Plymouth; W. P. O'Neill, Mishawaka; Jacob F. Denny, Portland, and James W. Fortune, Jeffersonville. Scales says he will have the first district solid, Denny says he has the eighth district, Fortune's friends say the third is for him for the nomination, and Metsker and O'Neill will divide the thirteenth.

Mason J. Niblack of Vincennes, who had been in the race for lieutenant governor as the farmer candidate, withdrew as soon as he heard Clore was a candidate. He said he believed Clore would better represent the farmers on the ticket than he could.

The candidates for reporter of the supreme court are Harry G. Strickland of Greenfield, E. E. Cox of Hartford City, Charles McCullough of Brazil, Philip Zoercher of Tell City and E. W. McDaniel of Shelbyville. Each candidate has a busy bunch of supporters circulating among the arriving delegates, and an interesting contest is promised.

John W. Spencer, recently appointed by Governor Marshall as judge of the Vanderburg circuit court to fill a vacancy, will seek the nomination for judge of the supreme court from the first district. Among the other candidates for that office are J. C. McNutt of Martinsville, Edwin M. Carr, a member of the 1911 general assembly and now an assistant attorney general; J. W. McClellan of Grant county, and F. S. Caldwell, the two latter seeking the supreme court nomination from the fourth district.

After all, Joseph H. Shea of Seymour may not have such easy sailing to the Democratic nomination for judge of the appellate court from the first district as he thought he would have. Shea had been the only candidate for that nomination, and it looked as if he would have it handed to him on a platter, but today Albert F. Wray of Shelbyville and Judge George Downey of Aurora also threw their hats in the ring.

While the Democrats are busy with preparations for their big convention tomorrow, over at Republican headquarters there is also considerable stir, the headquarters force being actively engaged in completing the details for the Republican state convention called for next Tuesday to name four delegates at large to the national convention and two electors at large. The Republicans will not hold their nominating convention until after the national convention.

Two Villages Suffer Fire Loss.

Sullivan, Ind., March 20.—Fire, starting from a stovepipe, destroyed the furniture and undertaking establishment of McHugh & Padgett at Shelburn with a loss of $11,000. Fire of unknown origin, starting in a shooting gallery, burned four places of business at Dugger, with a total loss of $8,000.

Waterworks Dam Goes Out.

Logansport, Ind., March 20.—Eel river, which has been gorged with ice, broke its bounds and tore down the dam from which comes the city water and flooded the electric light and water company plants to a depth of two feet, putting all out of working order.

HE HAS LEARNED LIFE'S TRAGEDIES

for several weeks, Fletcher was promoted to a job on a "punching machine" and later worked on the inside of boilers at what they call "bucking up rivets." He says if you have never "bucked up rivets," you have not missed much.

At other times he worked at the "core-making trade" in the molding department of the steel foundry. He worked on the scarping in the yards and in the "chipping department" and everywhere about the foundry he got a chance to work. He also worked on a freight transfer of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The amount a man earns in a freight transfer depends on nothing but brute strength, the laborers were paid by the ton, and what you earned depended upon the number of tons of freight you could transfer on big steel trucks from one freight car to another within a period of twelve hours.

At another time for thirty-two straight months, Thomas Brooks Fletcher worked part of the time on night shift, and part of the time on the day shift in the foundry of The American Steel Casting Co. Many pages could be written about what happened during this period. He helped to organize the men, was elected president of the local association which was later affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. He was a member of the arbitration committee when the strike occurred in his shop, and he lost his job in the fight, of course, but he got it back again. The messages Thomas Brooks Fletcher delivers today are not theories and he is not an accident on the platform.

"He has worked in every department of the newspaper profession and he ought to know life if any man in the Lyceum does." He has had experience, and some of it has been bitter experience, but it is not embittered him. His lectures are not only scholarly, they are more than that, they are vital with facts which can be gotten only by one who knows how human beings live in all conditions of society. His sympathy for the men who cannot think or fight for themselves, and who create by their labor more than they are paid for, is real sympathy, and is at least one of the sources of the eloquence and power.

ALLISON MURDER IS RECALLED NOW

Connersville News Points Out Details in Local Case Similar to Cambridge City Tragedy.

MRS. ALLISON CAUGHT THIEF

A crime as gruesome as that of the Allison murder at Cambridge City in April, 1910, is that of the murder of Mrs. Larry B. Harris, wife of a well-to-do farmer living near Rushville, who, it is now believed, was first killed and then the house set on fire and her body charred, says the Connersville News. The authorities are perplexed for a solution of the crime and although they have much evidence to substantiate the murder theory there are no clues which are said to be valuable in running the murderer to earth.

In details the crime is similar to that of the murder of Mrs. Christian Allison by Charles Revaloe, who was apprehended by the woman while in the act of robbing the house in which he had formerly lived as a farm hand and who set the building on fire after mutilating the body. It was thought at first that she had discovered the fire and fainted, but in the last day or so the Rush county authorities have found evidence which removes all doubt but that it was murder.

BOTTOM DROPPING OUT OF THE ROADS

Thawing Following Severe Freezes of Winter Makes Pikes Almost Impassable.

CITY STREETS BADLY CUT UP

The consensus of opinion is that there will be some mud when the thawing of the ground is finished. In fact there is already some mud, according to reports. In some country roads it is said to be a foot deep and it seems, according to some farmers, that the bottom has dropped out of the roads.

It has been thawing considerably and the roads that are much traveled are said to be getting very badly cut up. This is the case every spring, however, and some think this season will not be worse than usual. They say the ground was frozen dry and that nearly all the snow and water ran off before the thaw process began. The ground was frozen so much deeper than usual however, that this theory may not hold good. The gravel streets in this city are becoming pretty badly cut up as the thawing process continues.

The frost throughout Rush county is two feet deep and when the permanent thaw comes it is going to take quite a long time before many of the country roads will be in a condition to be conveniently traveled. As a result of this State of affairs the interurban railroads that network the country are going to profit. They will be used more extensively than ever for the travel between the farm and the city.
